DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 1-21 are allowed because the prior art fail to teach or fairly suggest the claimed invention.
2. See Applicant's response, pages 1-4, received on 6/19/2008.
3. Furthermore, Ikeda et al. (US Patent No. 6370175), Ikeda discloses in Fig. 12 a laser driver circuit comprising a first current generating unit 92_2 generating a first current and outputting the first current to the laser invariably; a second current generating unit 92_1 generating a second current that is needed for light emission of the laser responsive to an input signal (Image Data), and outputting the second current to the laser; a third current generating unit 91 generating a third current that controls the laser such that a detected amount of emission light from the laser accords with a given value, and outputting the third current to the laser; and an initialization unit 94 and 96 performing an initialization operation to detect luminescence characteristics of the laser, and outputting a signal, indicating a value of the second current derived from the detected luminescence characteristics, to the second current generating unit, wherein the third current generating unit controls the third current so that an amount of light outputted by the laser which receives a sum of the first current, the second current, the third current and the auxiliary current, accords with a predetermined amount. However, Ikeda does not teach an auxiliary current control unit causing the second current generating unit to generate a predetermined auxiliary current and output the auxiliary current to the laser and the first current generating unit 92_2 generates a threshold current which is not below threshold current as claimed.

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
